Although it has an older look to it and hasn't been updated in over four years, Celframe is very much a sufficient office software suite if you're not necessarily set on the best of the best. Celframe earns our TopTenREVIEWS Bronze Award for its simple, feature-rich office software suite.

Celframe Office includes your basic word processor, spreadsheet builder and slide show presentation creator along with a database manager, publishing platform, email client and a handful of other office software applications. One license allows you to install the entire office software suite on up to three computers for home, business or student use.

Word Processor Features: 8.1/10

Even though it's not big-name office software, Celframe doesn't skimp on the features for its word processor Write. This office software application has nearly every tool you need in a word processor and has a similar look and feel you've likely been familiar with for years. If you're planning on just using a word processor for basic to intermediate document creation and editing, you won't be limited at all with Celframe as it does the job well.

Click to Enlarge However, one downside we found to using Celframe was it wasn't quite as easy to use as other suites. During testing, a handful of times we couldn't locate a tool or feature we wanted to use. For instance, its dropdown menus are a tad different, enough that there is a small learning curve if you're use to using a particular word processor.

Spreadsheet Builder Features: 8.1/10

Compare ▾

There's a handful of features missing from Celframe Office's application Spreadsheet, but the features it's missing aren't necessarily deal breakers, just nice extras to have in a spreadsheet builder. Regardless if you need to create a simple personal budget or manage and analyze data, you won't run into any hiccups with this software. Additionally, we are impressed by the amount of functions the application has included.

Although it's modeled after Microsoft Excel, using Celframe's Spreadsheet might come with a small learning curve. It features dropdown menu navigation, but the menus differ slightly from Excel so finding some of the features and tools you need may take a little looking.

Presentation Creator Features: 8.1/10

Compare ▾

Creating a slideshow presentation in Celframe's Power Presentation application is simple and very similar to Microsoft's PowerPoint program. However, like Celframe's other office software applications, it features the dropdown menus so you may need a little time to transition to the interface, but after a little time you shouldn't have any trouble creating a presentation.

Click to Enlarge We were disappointed, however, to see that Celframe Power Presentation didn't have slide styles – slides that have interesting colors, gradients and patterns. The application does have different slide themes and layouts to choose from, though.

Supported File Formats: 9.4/10

Compare ▾

You shouldn't run into any troubles with opening, editing or saving documents in any of the most used file formats with Celframe. This office software even supports .docx, .xlsx and .pptx files. You can also save a document as a PDF file if you want.

Help & Support: 6.9/10

Compare ▾

Celframe outshines everyone in the help and support area. You can contact Celframe a number of different ways if you need assistance with the software. The easiest way we found to contact Celframe was by submitting a ticket via an online contact form. A support representative got back to us promptly and was very helpful. You can also call Celframe, submit a ticket requesting a call or even live chat with knowledgeable representatives. However, we found that most of the time the live chat feature was offline.

Click to Enlarge Celframe also has a bunch of helpful information on the website such as frequently asked questions, product manuals, quick start guides and more.

Summary:

Celframe may not be the big celebrity in office software, but we were impressed with its familiarity and excess of features included, not to mention the more modest cost. Celframe is an office software suite that is complete with applications that shouldn't limit what you need to do in a word processor, spreadsheet builder or presentation creator, nor should you find yourself limited with the many other office utilities it includes.
